ISSUE OF OPEN SHOP IS AGAIN PARAMOUNT ONE

New Elections Ordered By U. S. Railway Labor Board to P. R. R.

OVER-RULE OFFICIALS

Attitude Called "Quibbling" and "Almost Treasonable."

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The issue of the open shop as it affects employees of the Pennsylvania railway was brought sharply to the front today by the action of the U. S. Railway Labor Board in ordering new elections of representatives of employees of the road and prescribing the manner of voting.

The order sets aside elections already held and over-ruled the contention of officials of the railway that their employees' representatives shall be chosen without regard for union affiliations. Conferences to be held before August 12 will determine the method of holding the new elections. Officials of the Pennsylvania railway frankly stated at recent hearings of the labor board that they would deal with their employees according to their own plans, virtually denying the right of the board to interfere. This attitude of the decision issued by the board, is called "quibbling" and "almost treasonable."

The board expressed impatience with "quibbling" over technicalities and declared that a time when the nation is slowly and painfully progressing through the condition of industrial depression, unemployment and unrest it is almost treasonable for any employer or employee to haggle over nonessentials of industrial chaos.

The Pennsylvania in its ostensible compliance with an order of the board for conferences with its employees on new rules, had held a general election. Votes were cast for individuals only and the names of the various labor organizations of the railways employees did not appear on the ballots.

The labor board sets aside this election and the new rules and has ordered a new election at which the employees may vote for representatives. Representatives chosen at the new election are to be given recognition by all the railroads at new conferences.

No statement as to their attitude toward the new order of the board has come from the Pennsylvania officials.

AMERICAN SELLING CAMPAIGNS ABOUT STOPPED IN SOUTH

U. S. Dollar at Big Premium in Countries To The South.

Washington, August 1.—The American dollar is at such a premium in Latin-American and South American countries, that Belgians, Germans and other foreign traders, through ability to quote goods at lower prices, have forced virtually a suspension of American selling campaigns in countries to the south.

Cabled reports of American consuls in principal South American capitals to Secretary of Commerce Hoover today only added more uncertainty to an already complex exchange and foreign trade problem as it affects American business men.

Consuls told of Germans quoting a wide range of goods and commodities in South America at fifty percent below the price quoted by the American firms. The Germans, they said, are gaining a monopoly in the South American market through their ability to ship cheaply-priced goods and often goods inferior to American commodities in quality. Although Argentina's commercial situation was reported by Consul Peely at Buenos Aires to be improved, Argentine imports from the United States continue to show a marked decline.

Argentina, however, is selling grains heavily to Europe. Argentine is buying necessities from the United States. Many American houses there have liquidated their affairs and quit the field until exchange conditions improve, consul Peely declared.

American consuls generally, advised Secretary Hoover to discourage American selling campaigns while conditions in that district remain chaotic financially.

Cholera Cases In Russia Increasing 400 Every Day

Thousands of Children in Samara District Deserted by Parents in Wild Flight From Plague Ridden Country—Uprising Makes Matters Worse.

Copenhagen, Aug. 1.—New cholera cases are developing in the Samara district of Russia at the rate of 400 daily, according to information received here today from Riga. Thousands of children in the Samara district have been deserted by their parents in the wild flight of the populace from the plague-ridden country side.

The task of fighting the pestilence has been rendered doubly difficult by the bad sanitary conditions.

(The Samara district is in eastern Russia stretching from the Volga to the Ural mountains.)

Paris, Aug. 1.—A revolutionary uprising has added fresh terrors to the terrible famine and plague situation in Russia, but the government troops are crushing the rebels, said a Reval dispatch to L'Information today.

INTER-ALLIED SUPREME COUNCIL WILL MEET AUGUST 8 TO DISCUSS QUESTIONS

Paris, August 1.—The inter-allied supreme council will meet on August 8 and probably will be in session two or three weeks, according to the newspaper Bon Soir today. The meeting will be in Paris instead of Boulogne. Opinion was expressed by Bon Soir that the allied statesmen would discuss Russian along with the Upper Silesian issue and the Greco-Turk war. It was intimated unofficially at the Foreign Office, however, that France will decline to discuss Russia, believing that Russia is a question for individual action.

Moderate opinion in France is in favor of extending help to Russia. Deputy Moutet has sent a letter to Premier Briand asking that the French government participate in an international campaign of relief "to save the starving millions of Russia." The Deputy added:

"It is a humanitarian duty and is above all politics."

Government officials hold out little hope, however. They say that France has no money nor any supplies to spare.

Four millions starving, plague-stricken peasants are reported to be moving towards Moscow from cholera and famine districts.

The cholera is claiming 95 percent of the residents in some districts.

The public service bureau has been notified by the workmen in the Volga district that all the factories will be turned back to their former owners under guarantees, the Reval dispatch added.

The Petrograd tramways are to be turned back to their Belgian owners.

Gorkey has been put in charge of the Russian relief committee.

THOUSANDS GIVEN WORK AS BUSINESS REVIVAL ARRIVES

Steel Plants Book Large Orders and Outlook Optimistic.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 1.—Prosperity is returning to the great Pittsburgh and Youngstown districts. There is a noticeable revival in business in most lines.

Within the last ten days several thousand men have gone back to work largely in the allied steel industries, several thousand more resumed work today and indications are that thousands more will be given employment within the next two weeks.

Invariably the men who are going back to mills and mines are doing so at reduced wages, generally 10 to 15 percent below what they formerly received, and in some instances at reductions of 20 percent, but the hysteria over wage cuts and open shop has died out. Men want work and they are glad to accept steady employment even at reduced wages.

Steel plants and steel industries are booking large orders and the whole outlook is more cheerful and optimistic. There is a renewal of confidence among workers and business men.

The Independent Steel mills have reduced wages to almost pre-war levels. U. S. Steel is expected to get down to the independents' basis shortly. Price cuts in steel products are expected within a week or ten days and these prices will be rock bottom.

Buyers who have been holding back realize there will be no more cutting a tremendous flood of big orders is anticipated and every plant will be going full tilt within sixty days according to views of some of the biggest steel men.

NO CAUSE FOR WAR BETWEEN U. S. AND JAPAN SAYS NIPPON BARON

China Principal Issue Between Countries Believes Statesman—California, Yap, Korea and Shantung Afford No Reason for Conflict.

Washington, Aug. 1.—If the Washington disarmament conference breaks up in a conflict between Japan and the United States, mutual interests of each other in reference to China, each will be responsible, according to Baron Sakari, of the Japan House of Peers, and member of the American-Japan society.

Japan is the only inflammable material at present, the baron asserts in a lengthy review of Japanese-American relations, the text of which reached here today from Tokyo.

Japanese immigration in California, Yap, Korea and Shantung afford no reason for war, the baron believes, but intelligent care must be used in dealing with the situation resulting from the conflict of American and Japanese interests in China.

"Americans suspect Japanese designs in China, while the Japanese entertain similar suspicions toward America," said the baron. "If the suspicions on both sides can be removed there is no reason why the two countries should go to war on account of China."

If Japan has expressed her readiness to return Shantung to China, the baron stated, "There can be no fear of that question ever being made a cause for war between Japan and the United States. Japan will stick to the policy of protection of China's integrity and the open door principle."

"The participation of China is what the Japanese have been dreading for many years, but as a result of the world war this apprehension has been completely reversed."

MEASURE TO FINANCE AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS TO BE PUSHED THROUGH SENATE

Washington, August 1.—Following the elimination today of the provision for loaning money and extending credits to foreign governments from the administration bill to finance agricultural exports through the war finance corporation, Republican leaders of the Senate, backed by the senatorial "agricultural bloc" planned to push the measure through without further delay.

Nearly all opposition to the measure is expected to melt away when Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, Senate agriculture member in charge of it, presses for an early vote.

Opposition to the foreign government bill, Senators, Idaho; Johnson California; Walsh, Massachusetts; Lafayette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Reed, Democrat, Missouri contributed to the agreement to strike it from the bill. They took the stand that foreign governments indebted to the United States for $11,000,000,000 for principal and interest should not share in the American plan to move farm products to foreign government. It is intended however to permit foreign governments to produce such products to secure such finance from the war finance corporation provided they spend the money within the United States.

Although the conditions of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, who collapsed Thursday after attacking the administration's substitute, is much improved today, he is not planning to return to his Senate seat soon, his physician having warned him that he must take a long rest before attempting to resume his senatorial duties.

In his absence his bill is to be side-tracked for the administration measure, although he probably will be recorded as voting against it.

TRIBUTE PAID PILGRIMS BY U. S. PRESIDENT

Harding On Modern Mayflower Arrives In Cape Cod.

THOUSANDS ATTEND

Courage of Fore-fathers Commemorated on 300th Anniversary.

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 1.—Three centuries after the Pilgrim Fathers sailed into Plymouth harbor and laid the foundations of the American nation, President Harding came to this national shrine to pay his tributes to the nation's founders and the principles they laid down for the nation's building.

The President standing on the forward deck of the modern Mayflower and sailing the same course which Miles Standish and his followers followed in the historical Mayflower, lit in the sunny Cape Cod amid a prominent display.

The Pilgrim Fathers caused small excitement to a few scattered Indians when they came to Plymouth, but President Harding, escorted by two big battleships from the Atlantic Fleet and a division of destroyers, with big guns booming in salute, aroused the greatest patriotic fever in the bosoms of thousands gathered here to commemorate the memories of their courageous fore-fathers.

The Presidential yacht steamed across Cape Cod bay in the wake of the Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, and dropped anchor in Plymouth harbor at 9:15 a. m. The President landed at 10:55.

President Harding's first act upon landing was to urge the children of America to carry on the policies which brought success to the Pilgrims in their long struggle against great odds to found Plymouth colony. Thirty five nervously excited school girls of New Bedford were waiting upon the dock for the President, who presented medals to them for having greatest marks in the studies of the English language in New Bedford schools.

The President has consented to lead a procession which will depict the early life in Plymouth. Lineal descendants of the early settlers were participating in the parade including Miss Priscilla Alden, Briggs-Miss Priscilla Alden, of Bridgewater, a descendant of John Alden, Princess Woonneksauke, a descendant of Massasoit and Kenelm Winslow, of Middleboro, a descendant of Governor Winslow.

After leading the parade through the historic streets of Plymouth, the President was to review the procession. At the conclusion of the parade the chief executive will be entertained at luncheon. Late this afternoon, he will deliver an address to hordes of New Englanders who have flocked into this historic town for the past week.

It was not alone American tribute that was paid to the Pilgrim Fathers today. England, Wales, the Pilgrim Fathers fled from persecutions, paid her measure of honor. The British cruiser Cambrian, lays in the harbor. Isaac Foote, Deputy Mayor of Plymouth, England, was here as the representative of the United Kingdom and Captain Bailey, naval attaché represented the British embassy. Charge Beaufort of the Netherlands represented his nation, the original home of the Pilgrims.

President Harding was not the only distinguished American here, for Vice President Coolidge, Secretary Weeks, Senator Lodge, Sen. Frelinghuysen, Senator Hall of Maine and many members of Congress were also present.

Governor Cox of Massachusetts headed the delegation of New England Governors.

Tonight the President will be entertained at dinner at the Plymouth Inn, and then he will view the native pageant, where the citizens of Plymouth will enact the landing of the Pilgrims and the first few months of hardships which they underwent.

At the conclusion of the pageant the President will again board the Mayflower and sail for Portland, Me., whence he will motor to the home of Secretary of War Weeks, at Lancaster, New Hampshire.

ANTIOCH PROFESSOR ACCEPTS SCHOOL JOB IN TOWNSHIP

Arthur A. Hauk, former assistant principal of the Moraine Park school, will be superintendent of Yellow Springs and Miami township, head of the teachers training course at Antioch College and director of the Antioch elementary course, starting next fall.

Because of his associations with the faculty of Antioch College, the Yellow Springs and Miami township boards of education, which operate under a joint superintendent, were able to obtain Mr. Hauk's services at a cost much cheaper than that necessary to hire a separate superintendent. It is said the move will save the joint boards $1,000 a year, and according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, the economical standpoint is in keeping with a general economical campaign over the state.

Under his contract with the boards of education of Yellow Springs and Miami township, the new superintendent will give only part time to that work, and he will also continue to give part of his time to the Moraine Park school, to which he came from Idaho when it was organized some time ago.

Straightened finances with which the joint boards have had to compete for some time, are responsible for the economic move, according to school heads. Harold M. Little, of Yellow Springs, was the joint superintendent last year, but though his work was satisfactory, the joint board was unable to meet his salary demand for the coming year and had to search for a more economical plan, which was arrived at through the retaining of Mr. Hauk on part time.

Former Superintendent Little said Monday, that he endorsed the plan of the board in retaining Mr. Hauk as superintendent in order to arrive at a more economical operation of the schools and that he congratulated the board on a good business move. It will be recalled that the schools were threatened with closing several weeks early last spring until a whirlwind campaign netted $900 in a week, enough to keep the schools in operation through the year. Mr. Little is planning to teach next year, but has not as yet signed a contract, he said Monday.

His faith is unshaken and he trusts in the Lord. "He will see me through now as well as He did through the war," says York.

According to her story the concern was named, and the robbery was to have been staged at noon today. The amount anticipated was $24,000. Word has been sent to nearby towns, and an effort will be made to identify the men held as participants in recent crimes.

Nagel today is mailing to friends who have "kidded" him about his charm a postal card bearing a rabbit's foot and the words "I told you so."

SID HATFIELD DIES IN GUN BATTLE

Welch, West Va., August 1.—Sid Hatfield and E. Chambers, two of the principal defendants in the great murder trial at Williamson, West Virginia, several months ago for the battle at Matewan, West Virginia, a year ago, were both shot and killed just before noon here today by P. Lively. The two men were here to face trial for the shooting up of the town of Matewan, West Virginia. An argument ensued and Hatfield attempted to shoot Lively but the latter was too quick on the draw and beat Hatfield to it.

POSTPONE M'GANNON TRIAL

Cleveland, August 1.—Trial of Judge William H. McGannon and others charged with contempt of court and obstructing justice, were postponed until September 19, by Judge Homer G. Powell. The absence of D. T. Anderson, of Youngstown, Cartwright's chief counsel, who is taking a vacation in Canada, caused the postponement.

RACE FOR PENNANTS IN BOTH LEAGUES GROWING CLOSER

New York, Aug. 1.—Two more months and the Major League pennant races will be over because would never guess it by the looks of the percentage columns.

As the teams swung in their August schedules today, races in both leagues were tighter than Pullman windows with no immediate prospects of a change.

The Indians and Yanks are in the midst of another hot series, fighting tooth and nail for the leadership with little to choose between them.

That Speaker's team has a shot in one respect and it lies in consistency and sustained winning. The Yanks, on the other hand have suffered several depressing periods and stranger of all, they have been upset by some of the weaker teams of their league.

In the National League the Pirates and Giants are very close together.

Aside from the two leading teams in the big league races the Boston Braves are the only ones who still have the ear-marks of being pennant contenders, barring some freakish and long sustained winning streak by a club that is not in the running in either league at this time.

One feature boldly brought out during the last ten days in both leagues is the fact that a lead of three or four games is not sufficient to guarantee any lengthy occupancy of first place to anyone of the four pace-making teams. There may be something wrong with baseball, as some contend and as total attendance figures for the season may indicate, but there is nothing wrong with the pennant races.

IRISH SETTLEMENT STILL PENDING

London, Aug. 1.—The Irish settlement is still pending and no movement will be made by the British government until the Sinn Fein Dublin takes decisive action.

Premier Lloyd George declared this to be the status of the Irish situation when he made a brief speech in the House of Commons this afternoon.

The Premier was asked by a member if he was prepared to make an announcement of the Irish peace negotiations. The premier replied: "The Sinn Fein has not replied to the government's terms. Consequently I am unable to make a statement at this time."

SCHOOL EXHIBIT AT FAIR TO BE NOVEL DISPLAY THIS YEAR

When the "one and only great and glorious" Greene County Fair starts off on its eighty-second annual appearance Tuesday the visitors are going to sit up and take notice at a bigger and better school exhibit.

This is the sentiment although not exactly the words of H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, who has been busy arranging for the exhibit of the school boys and girls, annually a big feature of the Fair.

This year will mark the elimination of old time honored manuscript and writing exhibitions, and turn to the more practical of school work according to Mr. Aultman. With the abolishment of the yards on yards of manuscripts of children, manual training and home economics will be given a bigger place in the annual display. In fact so large a display will be given these branches of school work that a large tent had to be ordered, Monday, to house the exhibits.

There will be a little art, more of the manual training sewing and cooking exhibits and considerable attention to pig club work, stock judging work and canned and preserved fruits, with the work of 400 children on exhibition. The new idea promises an interesting departure from the old style exhibit, and according to Mr. Aultman the school exhibit hall will this year be the biggest attraction on the ground.

LONDON EDITOR SAYS PAPER MISQUOTED HIM IN INTERVIEW

New York, July 30.—Lord Northcliffe whose controversy with Lloyd George is reverberating through two continents slipped away from all the clamor and furors here today and sought the golf links. The British publisher left H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times behind to do all the talking for him. Mr. Steed was quite willing to talk but he said that before he did so to any extent he wanted to interview the reporter for a New York newspaper who interviewed him a few days ago. Mr. Steed intimated that it would be a warm session. In the interview he was quoted as saying that King George had said to Lloyd George "you must stop killing my people" referring to Ireland. And that was the cause of all the trouble, Mr. Steed said today.

"Are you going to make a statement on the matter?" the editor was asked. "Am I?" countered Mr. Steed. "As you Americans say: Ill say I am, but I want to see that reporter first. I am waiting to hear from them now." (Them referring to the New York paper.)

The utterances attributed to the king have created "no end of a row" King George denies them. Lloyd George denied them, the premier addressed commons on them and there is the devil to pay generally.

Steed said today he did not know where his chief, Northcliffe, had gone except that he had departed for a round of golf "with an old friend."

Northcliffe and Steed returned to New York early today from Washington where they met the socially elite at the capital at a dinner tendered by Mrs. E. B. McLean. This dinner took the place of one that had been planned at the British embassy but which was cancelled at the last moment. Northcliffe says on the orders of Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary.

PROMISE STARTLING CRIME DISCLOSURES

Hamilton, August 1.—Startling developments are promised in a short while by sheriff Labach, who is investigating the murder recently on the Dixie highway by three auto bandits of Arthur B. Conery, Columbus, Ohio, auto salesman while riding with his wife.

Two suspects "Cyclone" Bowen and Robert Neu, held in Lebanon jail, could not be identified by Mrs. Conery. Mrs. Conery, however positively identified a cap in the possession of the authorities as the one worn by a member of the hold-up gang. Officials said Mrs. Conery was pretty certain, too, that the auto held in Franklin belonged to the bandits.

MAN CHARGED WITH INCITING A RIOT

Bridgeport, O., Aug. 1.—On charge of inciting a riot, C. P. Billings, of Wheeling and general manager of the Wheeling Traction Company was held to the Belmont county grand jury by Mayor Charles Junkins under $400 bond. The case is the outgrowth of rioting on Saturday night, following attempts of the traction officials to stop operation of opposition motor busses from the Ohio side of the river into Wheeling.

Assistant superintendent Charles Marsh, who was rescued from a mob here has been released.

Traction service between Wheeling at Martins Ferry and Rayland was interrupted for 19 hours as a result of crowds tearing up rails at Aetna-ville.

"NEVER AGAIN" SAYS GERMANY

Berlin, August 1.—"Never again" now is the slogan of Germany. A monster pacifist demonstration was held here Sunday commemorating the seventh anniversary of the break of the world war and marchers carried numerous banners with such inscriptions: "No more war" and "Peace for all time."

The sentiment of the demonstrators was reflected in the editorial comment of the newspapers today.

BROOKLYN FIGHTER TO MEET RICHARDS

The Miami Athletic Club of Dayton, has at last found a feather-weight who is not afraid of meeting Blockie Richards, the Dayton boxer the same being Willie Kohler, the Brooklyn Hebrew.

Kohler has been handling all of the feathers in the east a trimming and Johnny Kilbane refused to meet him three times after signing articles. The Brooklyn boxer is not only anxious to meet Blockie but through his manager, Jack Clifford, has offered a side bet that he will beat Blockie.

The Miami Athletic Club has matched these boys for a 12-round decision contest at Triangle Park, Monday night August 8. Kohler is a terrific puncher like Blockie and their clash should draw the usual coterie of boxing enthusiasts from this city, as many have been waiting for Blockie's next meeting.

Wilmington, Aug. 1.—George Dunn, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting Marshal Dan B. Williams of Sabina, with intent to kill and who was released on $2,000 bond, was arrested the second time by sheriff Kirk and Deputy Smith.

The second warrant was on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Arraigned before Judge W. L. Stegert in this city Dunn pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for August 4, the same date as the hearing on the shooting charge. He was again released on an additional $2,000 bond.

FINDINGS OF PHILIPPINE COMMISSION FORECAST RETENTION BY THE UNITED STATES.

A letter to Secretary Weeks from Major General Leonard Wood, now in the Philippines as head of the Wood-Forbes mission sent by President Harding, was received recently and Mr. Weeks acknowledged that it indicated the character of the report to be made later by the mission. The War Secretary declined to make public any impressions gained by the writer, however, relative to capacity of the islanders for self-government or as to conditions generally. No time has been fixed for submission of the formal report, it was said as the mission had not completed its work.

A development of the President's recent announcement relative to General Wood's acceptance of the post of Governor General became known. A number of influential persons in the island have cabled members of the Harding administration and asked that the General be selected for the post. General Wood's record in the past and the qualities that he has shown during the present trip have convinced American and Filipino leaders alike that he is the man for the place.

General Wood's selection as provost for the University of Pennsylvania is not considered to be a bar to his taking the post in the Philippines. His arrangement with the University trustees is understood to have been that he would take the place if his country did not need him in some other capacity. It is believed in Washington that, despite his earlier refusal to take the place, General Wood can be shown that his acceptance is necessary and when the appointment is made he will be the man selected.

A late Manila dispatch says: "Since their return to Manila last week, Major General Wood and W. Cameron Forbes have been busy preparing the preliminary report for which President Harding cabled recently. It is indicated that this will not be merely a routine report, but will foreshadow their real recommendations, which those close to the mission believe include retention of the Philippines, continuation of autonomy under the Jones act, but with closer American supervision throughout; cleaning of the courts rehabilitation of finances breaking up of peonage and improvement of sanitation.

It is not indicated whether the mission will recommend the setting of a definite date for future independence.

While General Wood refuses to comment regarding the reported offer to him of the governorship of the Philippines, friends believe his interest in the Philippine problem is increasing, and that he might be induced to accept, despite financial sacrifices, and the comparative isolation of the post. Sentiment of the American community and of many Filipinos continues strong for his appointment.

GIVE US MEN OF THE TYPE OF HOOVER AND GOETHALS FOR PUBLIC PLACES.

We read with interest comparison of the cost of the Panama Canal and the expenditure by the United States Shipping Board for one year. Perhaps this may be partly explained by the fact that an engineer was in charge of the construction of the canal. An engineer's education, experience and achievements are based on the principle of honesty, for it is an indisputable fact that nature cannot be fooled, and once having this as a basis it always remains with him. On the other hand, men are trained on the basis of corporate greed and it sticks with them in every line of endeavor.

Many know of an engineer in public service who will not even accept the gift of a cigar from men with whom he deals because he considers it petty graft, and such it is. The people should learn to place in public office not those who seek the office, for they are the type who are working for themselves, but those whom the office seeks.

There are others in the engineer profession who are of the same caliber as Hoover and Goethals, and it is to be hoped the public will recognize more and more the fitness of such men for public offices.

THE LAW.

Some recent laws don't suit me, quite they seem to men too drastic; the statute that would hit me right should be a bit elastic. But while I criticize the laws, and eloquently flay them, and daily projecting jaws, I none the less obey them. I used to drink Hostetter's Balm of Ginseng and Cucumbers; it made my troubled spirit calm, and soothed my fevered slumbers. And often now I'd have a bowl of that inspiring tonic when life has jarred my weary soul with troubles that seem chronic. But I must violate a law, if I would quaff a flagon; and so the line I sternly draw, and ride the water wagon. From half a mile of garden hose I drink the limpid fluid, then sink me down to my repose, majestic as a Druid. The water slops in my inside and sloshes through my vitals, and often to the gods I've cried by all their storied titles, and asked them why I am condemned by water mains to languish; alas, they only hawed and hemmed, and chortled at my anguish. The law is written in the books, and I shall not defy it, and I'll consume the babbling brooks and raise unseemly riot. If we defy the laws we make through statesmen by us chosen, our government's an empty fake, and Order's feet are frozen.

Health Talks

By John B. Huber, AM.M.D.

Cheerfulness is the best promoter of health.

DOCTOR'S DISEASES

A little newspaper item, stuck off in one corner of the page, recently told how a doctor had died of apoplexy on the steps of an elevated railroad station. Of course, anyone might die of apoplexy, and yet this cause of death is not so rare among doctors as in many other occupations.

It's a strange thing to say about doctors—whose business it is to keep other people well—that as a class they are more subject to illness than any other and their expectation of long life is less than in most other callings. This profession has an average of 57 years at death—much too premature in these days.

There are several reasons for this: There is the anxiety and responsibility that weigh heavily upon doctors, who are generally men of conscience and sympathy. Then there is the amount and the trying nature of most of the doctor's work—the irregular meals and the broken rest, exposure to the elements and to infection. And then there is the scanty pay which most doctors get for their services, not to speak of the difficulty of collecting a great deal of the money they have earned. And when to this is added the fact that about half a doctor's work nowadays is done in hospitals and dispensaries for charity, who can wonder at the overwhelming strain to which these humane men are put?

Broken sleep is one of the most certain causes of the shortened lives of doctors. Night work is their common lot while the day's work must go on just the same. Being aroused in the first hour when sleep is profoundest is always a shock, and frequently a grave one, to the heart and nervous system. That is why angina pectoris or neuralgia of the heart, is called the doctor's disease.

QUALITY RETURNS AGAIN TO ITS OWN

TWINS

SINCE 1916.

MRS. HOUSEWIFE
THE FIRST ROBIN
NO FLY BY NIGHTS

AN EDITORIAL ON BUeING

1921 will be the first "quality" year since 1916. Mark that significant fact!

For the first time in five years the pendulum of consumer demand swings back to those products where quality dominates.

The day of the profiteer with his shoddy goods at high prices has passed into the discard.

Again the merchants' counters are thronged by buyers who will not buy at all unless the quality grades up to the well-known standards of previous years.

For the maker of strictly high quality goods, offering real value at fair prices, 1921 will prove a wonderful year. For the reliable dealer, who returns to his pre-war standards of high value rigidly maintained in every article of his stock, the turnover and net profits will fully justify the care with which he purchases goods, and the energy with which he merchandises them to a waiting public.

For the public is only too eager to re-discover the old values, lost temporarily during the war. Mrs. Housewife and her husband are quite willing to pay for products in which quality is woven throughout, and backed by the guarantee of the reliable maker and the dependable dealer. Though price is an all-important factor, it will be measured by definite standards of quality.

The two are inseparable. The one provides a fair basis for the other.

1921 will be a poor year for the guerrilla manufacturer and the fly-by-night dealer. The consuming public will not soon forget the make-shift goods of wartime and the dealers who sold them at prices in which honest value had no part.

Throughout the land many thousands of dealers whose assurance of value in the advertising columns of daily newspapers was alone necessary in the pre-war times to bring a throng of customers are now doing business again on a strictly quality and service basis. There have not been the windings of the profiteer during war years. They could not obtain goods measuring up to American quality standards and they would not misrepresent values. 1921 will justify their faith and courage and bring them the well-earned prosperity of the reliable merchant and the honest advertiser.

Observe as you linger at the well-stocked counters of the stores today the change in the attitude of the buying public. Necessity is bringing in the shoppers, but satisfaction in the old time combination of quality and price is evident on every hand.

Good times have returned. Their presence is indicated by the return of honest values as surely as the first robin symbolizes the unfailing approach of Spring.

FALL FESTIVAL TO BE WELL ANNOUNCED

Leon Ecker, advertising manager for the Festival Producing Company of Chillicothe, was in this city, Monday morning, in the interests of the Fall Festival to be held here under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, August 29, 30 and 31 and September 1, 2 and 3.

Mr. Ecker left a number of musical street streamers, bills and placards announcing the Festival and on his return next Monday, the advertising will be placed in the county. The producing company will carry the advertising into every town and village in the county and for a distance of sixty miles, insuring that the Festival will have a big crowd-drawing area.

Not only business houses, but churches and lodges are renting booth space, according to F. J. Slackford, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and general factotum of the big festival. Many organiza-

TURKS ON THE RUN.

The Turks, now that they are on the run are begging the Allies at Constantinople to call off the Greeks. Had it not been for the intervention of European Powers, the Turkish Empire could not have lived as a political entity all these years, and now it looks again to the "alliance of Powers," as of old it depended on the "balance of power," to preserve its existence.

Meanwhile, Kemal's Nationalist Government shifts its imitation leather suitcases to a new capital Sivas, 200 miles east of Angora. This is a place where the Turks while victorious staged an American massacre and crowned the Armenian Bishop with red-hot horseshoes. They are not saying anything about that, now that Greeks have captured—it is claimed—three-quarters of their mobilized military force and its equipment.

There is discernible in America no particular sympathy with any proposal of the Turks to paralyze the striking arm of Greece at this juncture. Rather it looks like compounding a felony and being accessory to murder to give any aid and comfort the Turk until he shows a change of front not merely in the mountains of Anatolia, but in his own mind and heart.

... Making the Neck Pretty. ... A young girl wrote me a couple of weeks ago that she was troubled with what she called "necklaces." I discovered that she meant four deep lines that ran directly across her neck. These did not make her look old now, she said, as he was only 18, and scarcely looked that, but she was sure that when she was 30 these deepening lines would add much to her age. And very sensibly she wanted to get rid of them at once.

I wrote her a letter asking whether she slept with a high pillow, and whether she wasn't proud shouldered. In her reply she answered yes to both questions. The deep lines across her neck were due to the fact that her head was constantly bent forward both when awake and when sleeping.

I advised her to take an old towel wring it out of hot water and roll it around her neck. As soon as it had cooled she was to take it off and rub in a quantity of flesh building cold cream, or of warmed cocoa butter. Then she was to do the following exercise.

She was to stand erect and to drop the head forward on her chest. Then with the neck as a pivot she was to roll the head around on the shoulders, that is, letting it bend as far to each side and to the back as she could. This was to be repeated 10 or 20 times, then she was to wipe off the ointment, and if possible to rub the skin with ice. If not she was to wipe off the neck with a cloth wrung from water as cold as she could get it.

Constant Reader—Facial muscles that are beginning to sag, will be helped by using an astringent twice each week. The skin should be cleansed first with a cream. Remove this with a warm moistened cloth.

Apply the astringent over the face and throat and lie down giving it a chance to draw up the skin, while you rest. This should take 20 minutes. Remove the astringent with warm and moistened cloth.

This exercise improves the neck.

Feed the skin after this with plenty of good cream, which should be gently massaged into the pores. Remove surplus and rub the face and throat with a small piece of ice. White of egg, very much diluted, makes a suitable astringent for such a treatment.

SIX ARE INJURED AS AUTO OVERTURNS NEAR NEW CARLISLE

Springfield, Aug. 1.—Golden G. Davis, judge of the Springfield police court, Miss Hazel Fenimore, of Springfield, Miss Lillian Dilts, of Springfield, and O. A. Mautin of Chicago, all suffered injuries when the machine driven by Davis, turned turtle over an embankment near New Carlisle, Sunday evening.

Judge Davis and his friends had taken a pleasure trip to Silver Lake, Sunday afternoon, and were on their way to Tippacanoe City, for dinner when the accident occurred. The smash happened, it is thought, when Davis, who was driving found he had taken the wrong road for Tippacanoe, and attempted to turn the machine at a point where the road was narrow, with a six foot ditch on either side.

Mr. Mautin and Miss Cunningham were thrown clear of the machine, when it overturned, an Mautin gained aid of nearby farmers who assisted to remove the others pinned beneath the machine. Miss Fenimore was unconscious when taken out, part of the car having rested on her throat shutting off air passages, until she was rendered unconscious. She was taken to the Springfield city hospital where no hope is held for her recovery.

Judge Davis suffered injuries about the back and sustained the fracture of several ribs. He was taken to his home, where he is under the care of a physician. Miss Dilts, and Miss Cunningham both suffered body bruises, Miss Dilts, suffering several broken ribs. Oates and Mautin were both bruised.

HOLDS RECORD SO FAR IN SEASON'S FISHING CONTEST

Edward Carder, now holds the record of making the biggest catch so far in the fishing contest being conducted by the Grease County Fish and Game Protective association.

Carder turned up Saturday, with a channel cat caught in the Little Miami river, that weighed seven pounds nine and one half ounces the biggest catch by over a pound, that has yet been registered for the season, with R. H. Kingsbury, secretary of the association.

But until Saturday Earl Little had the record for the biggest catch. The channel cat caught in the Little Miami July 1, weighed six pounds, four ounces. Harry Swigart was high man previous to Little's catch with a channel cat weighing four pounds, two and three quarters ounces caught June 22 in the Little Miami river.

Grether Restored by Tanlac Year Ago Still Feels Fine—Wife and Children Also Benefited.

"It has been about a year since Tanlac has fixed me up and I have been enjoying the very best of health ever since said Ott F. Grether of Fairlawn, Ohio, well known mechanic.

"My stomach was so disordered that I couldn't eat meats or vegetables at all, and even what I did manage to eat disagreed with me. I had blinding headaches and dizzy spells that almost worried the life out of me. My kidneys were disordered, and my back hurt so bad that I just dreaded to undertake any work that caused me to stoop over. My sleep was restless and broken and mornings I felt as tired as when I went to bed the night before.

"My sister-in-law got me to try Tanlac, and the medicine gave me a splendid appetite and fixed my stomach up so fine that I could eat anything I wanted without it bothering me. My kidneys no longer worry me, and I can lie down on my back for hours at a time and work on a machine. My sleep is sound and refreshing, and I feel as fine as I did when I was a boy. My wife and children have also gotten splendid results from Tanlac, and there is nothing too good I can say about it. I intend to take some of the medicine as a tonic."

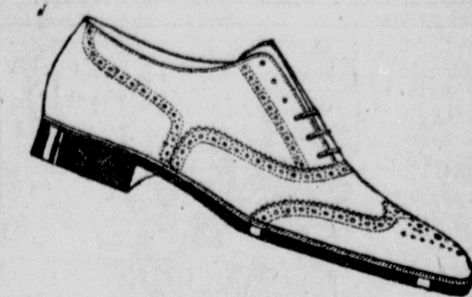

Tanlac is sold by Savre & Hempbill and leading druggists everywhere.

"The New Generation"

The story of a mother whose rebellion against the old-fashioned severity of her own upbringing causes her to let her daughter grow up without rebuke or interference—as flowers grow, naturally, in the sunshine—a free agent to express herself, her thoughts, her emotions as she would.

The story of a woman who married young and became so wholly just a mother that she ceased to be an individual—until one day she finds that her daughter no longer needs her but that she can still be attractive to the world, and to men.

The story of a girl whose inborn honor and decency are her only inhibitions—and of how she fares through life.

A gripping story of today by the author of the "My Husbands and I" serials, "The Revolt of Vera Sanderson," and other big stories of married life.

DINNER STORIES

The old man was applying at the eye hospital for some spectacles, and the doctor was making a test of his eyes.

A card was fixed on the wall a little distance away from where he was sitting, and the doctor asked him:

"Can you read that, my man?"

"No, sir," said the old man, "I can't."

The doctor told him to go nearer. "Well, can you read it now?"

Again the old man replied: "No, sir."

The doctor angrily pulled him forward until his nose almost touched the placard.

"Well, can you read it now?"

"No, sir," said the old man sadly, shaking his head. "You see, sir, I never learned to read."

A negro who had an injured head entered a doctor's office. "Hello, Sam! Got cut again, I see."

"Yes, sah. I done got carved up with a razor, doc."

"Why don't you keep out of bad company?" asked the physician, after he had dressed the wound.

"Deed I'd like to, doc, but I ain't got 'nuff money to git a di-voice."

"Fine looking bevy of stenographers you have here."

"Thanks."

"But why are they all red-headed?"

"Just an idea of our efficiency expert. He says they reduce the light bill 50 per cent."

"Mumme, why does Uncle John eat off his knife?" queried the young hopeful.

"Hush, dear!" replied mother in an agonized whisper.

"Uncle John is rich enough to eat off the coal shovel if he prefers it."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

"Yes," proudly announced the ex-captain, who is manager of the new $10,000,000 hotel, "all our employees are former service men—every one of them. The desk clerk is an old top kicker, the floor clerks have all been non-coms in charge of quarters, the chef was a mess sergeant, the waiters were all permanent K. P.'s, the house doctor was a base hospital surgeon, the house detective was an intelligence policeman, the bellhops were dough-boys."

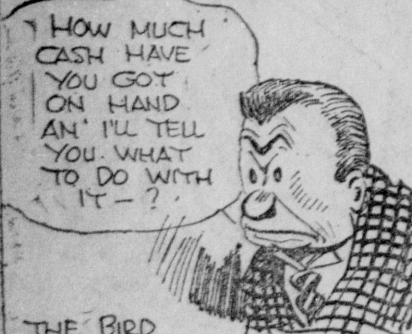

"And have you any former M. P.'s?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied. "When there's a good stiff wind blowing we use them as outside window washers on the eighteenth floor."

Testing Automobile Lenses at Ohio State University to See Which Will Comply With Ohio Headlight Law

PROFESSOR F. C. CALDWELL, Ohio State university, head of the Ohio Experiment Station, is shown testing the candle power and anti-glare qualities of various lenses to ascertain which comply with the new Pence law, which goes into effect Aug. 16. Under this law all automobiles must be equipped with lenses which have been approved by the state highway department. The tests to find out which lenses complied with the law were carried out at Ohio State university. 8-1

The tests were made with lamps equipped with 21 candle power bulbs, which after Aug. 16 will be the standard equipment on all headlights in Ohio. Headlights to comply with the law must throw rays of light not exceeding 2,400 candle power at Point C on the chart, which is 5 feet above the road level and 200 feet distant from the headlights. The headlight must throw at least 4,800 candle power at some point between A and B, and at least 1,200 candle power at Point E, and not to exceed 800 candle power at Point D, which is the position of the on-coming driver. Professor Caldwell is shown measuring the candle power by means of a photometer. He is testing a Sun-Ray lens, which met all requirements. The new law is designed for the protection of the motorist from glaring headlights at night. 8-1

FREIGHT BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE ON CERTAIN LINES

Wilmington, Aug. 1.—Freight business is picking up on railroad lines through Wilmington. Not only do observers notice more trains with a greater variety of cargoes, but is showing up on the books of the agents at the two stations, as local shipments, in an out, are tallied. Trains are running more frequently, and the regular-scheduled fast trains are scurrying through with capacity loads. Coal is still making up a portion of many of the trains, but with wheat shipments and the movement of grain products general the country over, railroad business is noticeably better. 8-1

AN EVENING CARD PARTY

Last week I wrote about giving a picnic. Today I am going to take up the question of giving a little evening party in the home. And I am going to reiterate my advice of last week: Summertime is playtime. Give a party of some sort now and then, just to keep you young and normal and happy. I needn't say "healthy," for if one is happy one is generally healthy.

As everybody does not play Auction Bridge, I am going to give the following directions for another, and simpler, card game:

How to Play "Snap": There are four persons to a table. An ordinary pack of playing cards is dealt round. Each of the four players keeps his cards face down in a pile and turns up one at a time. When two cards of the same denomination are turned up at the same time (two aces, two kings, etc.) the players who turned up these identical cards must each cry "snap"; whoever says it first takes both the cards. If three or even all four, turn up cards of the same denomination at once, all must call out "snap" and the one who called it first will gather in all the similar cards turned up. If it is hard to decide who said it first then the similar cards are allowed to pass unturned—being put on the heap beside the original pack. If anyone cries "snap" at the wrong time, his cards are placed in the center of the table, and whenever a card turns up corresponding to this forfeited card, anyone at the table may win it by being the first to say "snap pool." When each player's original pack is exhausted, he begins turning up the second pile he has been making by putting in a pile all the cards he turned up that were not similar to any other player's. Of course all must turn up their cards in unison. The game ends when one player has all the cards.

Suitable refreshments are: Crystallized Ginger, Cream Cheese-Olive Sandwiches, Small Frosted Cup-Cakes, Iced Russian Chocolate.

The Iced Russian Chocolate called for in this menu will prove most popular with those who have never tasted it before. It is a new drink, a combination of cocoa and coffee. Prepare the cocoa by heating one quart of milk to the boiling point, then adding to it 1/2 cup of cocoa powder mixed to a paste with a little cold water; let boil for 5 minutes and set aside to cool. Now make the coffee by adding 1 1/2 cups of coffee to 6 cups of cold water, bringing to a boil, letting boil for 20 minutes, then cooling. Combine these two mixtures in equal portions (a cup of coffee to a cup of cocoa) and place the drink in the refrigerator to become chilled. Serve in tall glasses with cracked ice and pass confectioners sugar. This drink may also be served hot. For those who are easily kept awake at night by drinking coffee, it is best to make this drink by using two cups of the made cocoa to one cup of the made coffee; in this way the coffee element is very slight and the drink is really no more than coffee-flavored cocoa. Even children may drink it if made in this way.

The Cream Cheese-Olive Sandwiches are made by chopping finely 1 bottle of stuffed olives and mixing this with 2 packages of cream cheese; add just enough soft butter to make a good paste, then spread on crustless slices of white bread. Cut into "fingers" (making two rather wide fingers from 1 full-size piece of bread).

Tomorrow—Some Good Tomato Dishes.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

VERA LEARNS TO ENJOY HER SELF WITHOUT KEITH

CHAPTER 107

Now my Sundays and the week nights when Keith left me were all occupied. I never said a word when he remarked that he was going over to Margaret's I simply put on my things and walked as far as the corner with him and took the stage for Erma's.

At times I could scarcely keep from laughing. He would say: "I think I will run over to Margaret's for a little while. She tele- phone me." I would say, "I wish Margaret might meet Mrs. Aldrich," I said to Keith.

"I wish so too." He gave the sigh that now almost invariably followed any reference to Margaret.

"Can't you manage it? Take Mrs. Aldrich to luncheon. Ask Margaret to join you. I'll think of some excuse for you to give for my absence."

Keith looked keenly at me, but made no reply. As we finished breakfast, however, he said:

"Vera, if Mrs. Aldrich would consent to lunch with me I should feel honored." He then named a popular restaurant.

I acted as pilot for Mrs. Aldrich, then hurried away, making an appointment with a dressmaker my excuse.

"We had a delightful luncheon," she told me when I reached home to find her there before me. I had met some friends and been delayed. "I liked Mrs. Dalton very much."

"Margaret can be charming—when she chooses. So she lunched with you?"

"Yes, and after we finished she brought me home. We had quite a chat. Our talk was principally about you. I think I surprised her a little with some of my ideas."

"It was evident something had happened when a few days later Gloria came over and, in the privacy of my room confided:

"Mother is just dying to give a supper party for Mrs. Aldrich, and doesn't know how to manage. She lived asking her to come at once. She did, and before she had been with me two days Gloria and Irene were devoted admirers.

"I told mother she was the most wonderful woman in the world," Gloria said in her exaggerated manner.

"And I told her if she didn't get to know her she would be missing an awful lot," Irene added.

I could see from what the girls told me that they had made Margaret curious. But she still stubbornly refused to come near me.

"I wish Margaret might meet Mrs. Aldrich," I said to Keith.

"I wish so too." He gave the sigh that now almost invariably followed any reference to Margaret.

"Mother is just dying to give a supper party for Mrs. Aldrich, and doesn't know how to manage. She sent for Uncle Keith to talk it over and he wouldn't have a word to say unless she asked you. Poor Uncle it must be horrid for him between the two of you."

I often had thought so too, but Gloria putting the thought into words brought it home to me more forcibly than ever before.

It must be horrid for Keith. He was trying to be fair to both of us and in the attempt was being ground between the nether grindstones of all that was unpleasant.

I felt I must be more patient; must try in every lawful way I could think of to compel Margaret to see her unfairness to us both.

I would never give in to her, never. Yet I longed to be friends with her for Keith's sake. Perhaps Mrs. Aldrich would help me.

Tomorrow—Brighter Days.

Lowest Prices Ever Quoted

ON TITAN AND INTERNATIONAL TRACTORS

The Harvester Company has made another big price cut on Titan and International tractors. This reduction wipes out all former advances and puts these tractors at the lowest prices at which they have ever been sold. We are offering:

INTERNATIONAL 8-16, $900

This price is about one-fourth less than that of March 1, 1921. The new price includes all necessary equipment—platform, fenders, governor, belt pulley—which cost extra on some tractors.

TITAN 10-20, $900

This is the lowest price ever quoted on the Titan, considering equipment included (formerly sold extra.) At this price the Titan 3-plow tractor is the best value in the farm power field.

INTERNATIONAL 15-30, $1,750

This also is lower than any former price. You cannot find a better 4-plow tractor for the money.

All prices are f. o. b. Chicago. The Harvester Company advise us that these prices are made regardless of manufacturing costs, and that they do not guarantee to maintain them. These prices certainly justify the immediate purchase of a tractor.

We can arrange suitable terms for you. Come in and see us.
